TAKING HOUSEWORK OUT OF DOORS

Many families have found it sufficiently pleasant and advantageous to do some of the daily housework outside the house in summer, to make suitable arrangements for it, _____, _____

A roomy screened porch at the back or side of the house, near the kitchen, provides a place that makes preparing vegetables and fruits a restful interlude in the homemaker's otherwise strenuous schedule. Some families have put in running water on the porch.

An outside summer laundry shed with a wood or oil stove for heating water has a number of advantages, she says, with the back porch ranking well up for this use, too. Ironing on a screened porch, as anyone knows, is far more comfortable on a summer day than at close quarters to the cook stove.

Meals served on a dining porch are especially delightful. Families who expect to make repairs or changes in their homes and wish to include some of these advantages, may find some suggestions in _____ or Farmers' _____
